Carriage of Portable Electronic Devices on Board Singapore Aircraft

8 May 2015, Singapore Aviation Academy

We are pleased to invite you to the Safety Series talk on Carriage of Portable Electronic Devices on Board Singapore Aircraft.

In this talk, the aviation industry will gain an overview on the technical and operational requirements of the expanded use of portable electronic devices (PEDs). Information on the use of PEDs in the flight deck and carriage of lithium batteries requirements will be shared. The industry will find it beneficial in learning about the application and implementation from an airline's perspective.

We look forward to your active participation at this CAAS Safety Series talk.

About the CAAS Safety Series

CAAS seeks to promote a strong safety culture and embed a robust safety framework through greater collaboration and engagement with the aviation community. The CAAS Safety Series was therefore launched in early 2011 as a platform to better engage the aviation industry on developments in safety policies and regulations as well as new initiatives from the industry. The Series comprises a mix of talks, workshops or seminars on topical issues related to aviation safety. Please visit www.caas.gov.sg
