

COME CELEBRATE A CENTENARY OF AVIATION WITH US!

The aviation community in Singapore gathered for the Singapore Aviation Centennial Evening at Resorts World Sentosa on 16 March to commemorate a centenary of aviation. The event was officiated by guest-of-honour, Senior Minister Goh Chok Tong. The event celebrated the accomplishments of the aviation industry, tracing how it played a pivotal role in Singapore's economic and social development to benefit people and businesses.

The dinner also marked the launch of the Singapore Aviation Centennial Celebrations (SACC), a year-long calendar of exciting events and activities to commemorate and showcase the many achievements and opportunities presented by Singapore's aviation industry.

With the support of strategic partners—Changi Airport Group, Republic of Singapore Air Force, Singapore Airlines, Singapore Airshow, and Singapore Technologies Engineering as well as sponsors from public and private sectors—interesting events have been lined up for the year. The Aviation Open House and Republic of Singapore Air Force (RSAF) Open House will offer students and individuals opportunities to interact with industry veterans to gain insights, as well as offer a glimpse of exciting career opportunities in both the civil aviation industry and in the military. Come August this year, the public is also welcome to immerse in the historical journey of Singapore aviation at the Aviation Centennial Exhibition at Changi Airport's

Terminal 3. Rounding up the year of celebrations will be the Singapore Airshow 2012, one of the world's top three aerospace and defence exhibitions.

For more information and the latest happenings on the SACC, check back with us regularly at www.aviationcentennial.sg.

