

ISSUE 12

EXPLORE OPPORTUNITIES IN AVIATION AT THE RSAF OPEN HOUSE 2011

An aviation industry booth at the Republic of Singapore Air Force (RSAF) Open House to be held at the Paya Lebar Air Base on 28-29 May, will showcase civil aviation through myriad wall displays and multimedia presentations. The RSAF Open House, led by the Civil Aviation Authority of Singapore (CAAS) will depict the history of civil aviation in Singapore, feature the aviation industry's capabilities, as well as highlight the education and career opportunities offered by its various sectors such as aerospace engineering and air cargo and logistics. As part of the Singapore Aviation Centennial Celebrations, representatives from industry associations such as the Association of Aerospace Industries (Singapore), Singapore Aircargo Agents Association and the Singapore Logistics Association are also invited to exhibit within the booth, to interact with visitors and share more about their dynamic sectors.

On the military front, the RSAF promises to deliver a fun-filled and awe-inspiring experience. Themed, "Our Air Force – Defending Our Skies", the Open House plans to showcase RSAF's Third Generation role in defending Singapore through a host of exciting activities including aerial displays, exhibits, stage performances, games and lucky draws. In one of the event's most anticipated programmes entitled Defending Our Skies, visitors will get to witness RSAF pilots execute breath-taking and exhilarating aerial acrobatics and manoeuvres. In Take to the Skies, participants of the lucky draw contest will stand a chance to win a ride on several state-of-the-art aircraft including the CH-47 Chinook Helicopter and Fokker-50 maritime patrol. There will also be appearances by television celebrities, live performances and games that will keep everyone entertained.

For more information, visit www.mindef.gov.sg/rsafopenhouse and www.aviationcentennial.sg/events.aspx.